Frequently Asked Questions

How, Our Mission was Born

A village is a group of people living in a defined territory with social, religious, or economic ties. The concept of village adoption and development has been around for centuries. In many cultures, villages are seen as the key to a community's success. A village is a microcosm of the larger community in which it is located. It is a place where people can come together to work, play, and live.

The village is the backbone of the community. It is a place where people can be self-sufficient and where they can interact with their neighbors on a daily basis. A village is a place where people know each other and where they can rely on each other for help and support. A village is a place of history and culture. It is a place where people have been living for generations. A village is a place with its own unique identity.

A village is a place where people can live in harmony with nature. It is a place where people can appreciate the simple things in life. A village is a place of opportunity. It is a place where people can start their own businesses and where they can find employment. A village is a place where people can raise their families and where they can send their children to school. A village is a place of potential. It is a place where people can realize their dreams and where they can make a difference. A village is a place worth fighting for. It is a place worth investing in. It is a place worth living in.

But unfortunately, today in fast growing world;

Some people enjoy a luxurious and comfortable life. They have what they need, in addition to what they want. On the other hand, some people cannot afford even the most necessities. They don't have a place to call home, food to eat, or clothing to wear. People with additional money live a comfortable and opulent lifestyle. Those who have just enough, or even less, are struggling for their lives every day. Such insecurity erodes human life and the development and survival of living things. Just look at around you.

To counter such scenarios,

Abhayudaan Foundation was established in 2020 in Ahmedabad, Gujarat (INDIA), to make a better future for the upcoming generation where people will realize their full potential and abilities, achieve their purpose in life, and be able to access opportunities and rights equally by utilizing the model "ABHAYUDAAN" at a village/rural level to accelerate sustainable development in various domain.

Motives That Strengthen us

1. Dedication to large scale change

In order to affect real change, change needs to eventually lead to large scale effects. We are focused on addressing our efforts to systematic issues and the underlying causes behind them. Our initial methods include a thorough assessment of the current state of the issue via research and surveys done by ground volunteers and service partners. This provides a well-rounded view of the multifactorial causes behind the issues we address, and how best to address them. We are committed to effecting change on a permanent large scale, starting from the root level and spreading upwards.

2. Focus on future generations

The actions of today shape the future. By ensuring the highest standards of living for the people of today, and protecting and advocating for our planet, we can ensure that the best resources are available for future generations. Many of the issues people face are greatly influenced by the situations they are surrounded by and born into. We aim to directly impact the lives of people and give them the tools to shape a better future for themselves.

3. Implement the 3C Model: Communicating, Collaborating, and Campaigning

The core of our beliefs and methods is the 3C strategy. These principles of communicating, collaborating, and campaigning are the central tenets behind how we organize our approaches to targeting different issues. By effective communication, we can get to the root cause of the issues we address. Effective collaboration results in maximum utilization of the resources available to us. and at last Campaigning allow us to bring our mission to life.

4. Assess results with impact measurement and accountability

The most important part of the work we do is the actual benefit and impact we provide. As such, it is a crucial part of our process to ensure that we provide transparency and accountability in our work. This includes assessing results honestly and critically. We use on ground volunteers and upper-level workers to corroborate the utility of the measures we are bringing to our areas of work, and we readjust and recalibrate accordingly.

Abhayudaan Village Adoption and Development Program

Approximately 3/4th of India's population lives in rural areas, and most poor people reside in rural areas. As a result, they lack access to necessities such as food, health care, sanitation, etc. Education and health services are inherently more difficult for rural residents to access than for urban residents. In addition to human rights abuses and violations of indigenous land rights, rural residents are more likely to deal with human rights violations. Rural discontent, polarization, and unrest result from rural inequalities in India.

Scope of Adoption

1. To inspire the communities to dream, plan, and mobilize forces and resources for sustainable development of each member who can realize their full potential and create such an ecosystem for positive behavioral transformation.
2. To seek positive transformation and engender progressive changes in the communities through alternative development models that are participatory, sustainable, and inclusive.
3. To render service to the larger community by creating and sustaining a culture of cooperative living for inclusive and sustainable development.
4. To empower marginalized and vulnerable groups in the village, particularly the elderly, the women, the youth, and the children of the community.
5. To establish convergence models of resources and workforce to achieve comprehensive development in tune with people's aspirations and potential.
6. To Build partnerships and networking/tie-ups with various agencies (NSS units, NGOs, industries, Public and Private sector, NRI) and industries. Working in and around the village/district for the development of the village.
7. To document new development models of rural communities/villages/clusters of villages and use them in training & research.
8. Availability and accessibility of basic amenities and services and achieving Sustainable Development Goals.
9. To generate awareness on gender and social issues like literacy, health & hygiene, sanitation, safe drinking water, livelihood options, etc.
10. Identify new Researchable areas for solving problems.
11. Creation of sustainable livelihood opportunities. And access to rights and entitlements
12. To make the village a "Model of Development" that can help other villages to develop with model plans.

Selection of Village

As per the latest Census, there are more than 640,000 villages in India and more than 2.5 lakh Gram Panchayats (GPs). In other words, every Lok Sabha constituency averages more than 450 such Panchayats. According to this, the village should be adopted on the bases of given criteria as given below:

1. Strong panchayat in terms of Finances, functions, and functionaries
2. Proximity to an urban center
3. Potential for piloting new technologies
4. Diverse population groups

अभयउड़ान

Thrust Areas

The concept of development meant self-reliance with the least dependence on outsiders. Multidimensional development of the village is impossible within a day or two. It needs people's participation and also attitudinal changes among the people. It usually took several years to bring an attitudinal change among the villagers to co-operate with government institutions or trusts to equip their village with all necessary facilities. Following are a few thrust areas one should focus on during a developmental plan.

1. Individual Development
   a. Education
   b. Skill Development
   c. Hygienic and Sanitation behavior and practices
   d. Substance abuse
   e. Daily habits include physical exercises, yoga, meditation, games, etc.
2. Community Development
   a. Youth or Young Community
   b. Women Community
   c. Community of Senior Citizen
   d. Village club for Justice, to stop crimes, empowerment, celebrations, functions
3. Economic Development
4. Infrastructure and Environment (Education and research, community, health, renewable resources, etc.)
5. IT Enablement

What we have done for ourselves alone dies with us; What we have done for others and the world remains and is immortal

Daily Habits

Typically, rural people lead very active lives, however, this alone is insufficient for an overall healthy lifestyle. Over 50% of mobile health clinic patients in rural areas suffer from chronic ailments such as ulcers, musculoskeletal disorders, and respiratory disorders, including asthma. In addition, a significant number suffer from stress related diseases such as hypertension and depression. These conditions are only a symptom of a far deeper and more troubling affliction of rural India.

Historically, despite less-than-ideal economic situations, the rural people of India were believed to lead content lives. This was possible due to the social structure of society which included yoga, meditation, exercise, and sports. However, currently, in the absence of these fundamental tenets, the quality of life of people in these areas has greatly suffered.

There is a dire and urgent need to establish and support a system that not only helps the current health conditions of the rural community, but also works to bring back an inner balance. We, the Abhayudaan Foundation, have the capacity and potential to bring health and wellness back to all levels of the community. Our aim to do this is via promoting yoga, meditation, exercises, sports, and by improvising daily habits of each individual.

To ensure the long-term success of the project, a sustainability plan will be implemented. Community ownership and involvement are prioritized, fostering active participation from stakeholders. The project will explore ongoing funding opportunities, partnerships, and capacity-building initiatives to sustain its impact beyond the initial phase.

In conclusion, the Promoting Healthy Daily Habits project in Village aims to transform the daily habits of villagers and promote an active and fulfilling lifestyle. By improving daily routines, fostering community engagement, and leveraging offline interventions and online campaigns, the project endeavors to empower individuals with the knowledge and skills necessary for a promising future of well-being and vitality. Community of Senior Citizen

Elders in our community are equipped with knowledge and competencies accumulated over the duration of their lives, and enriched with their experiences. This cumulative knowledge is of immense value to society. In a country like India, that can be so divided in terms of opportunities and access, elders are a resource that can help bridge this gap.

It is our responsibility towards the senior citizens in our communities to ensure their well-being, both mentally and physically. By incorporating the inputs of senior citizens into our development plans, we can add to the social development of the nation. This is the need of the hour for a country like India which has miles to go to reach our parameters of social development.

There are several ways in which we can make the contributions of our elders a significant part of our country's development. These can be through pro bono or financially compensated methods. A few of these roles are:

1. Acting as a FAMILY MENTOR by guiding the younger generation of their own family.
2. Spending some time with needy young children as SOCIAL GUIDE on a regular basis. This has two dimensions: teaching as well as overall growth of child.
3. Finally, every elder must spend some time in helping other seniors in need. "SENIORS FOR SENIORS" is an important concept.

The Empowering Senior Citizens project in village aims to create a vibrant community where senior citizens actively contribute to the social development of the village. By incorporating their inputs, promoting active participation, and providing support, the project envisions a community that values and benefits from the wisdom and experiences of senior citizens. Through a range of offline and online activities and initiatives, the project strives to empower senior citizens, foster intergenerational connections, and create a brighter future where senior citizens play an integral role in shaping the community for generations to come.
Village Club

Village club is a community-first approach to village development. It's a place for any villagers to share, educate, express, point out, bring change, question, network, collaborate and motivate to each other or to deepen their existing practice in a supportive and open environment and with like-minded people.

The vision for village club is to build a community of villagers and to involve them in the development program of village. This club will be formed with full of communal activities and events. our goal is to create a community that any villagers will wants to be a part to grow, share and connect with likeminded people and villagers.

With all the troubles of the village, villagers are becoming increasingly lonely, disconnected, and confused. Village bodies often don't have the tools and support that they need to engage deeper with their lives and meet obstacles they encounter as individuals, and as a society. Abhayudaan Foundation believe that everyone should have free and equal access to the tools and support they need to find happiness, peace, and ease in their relationships and life experiences.

Village club will be grounded in non-violence and non-discrimination, it will be a safe space to explore villagers' hearts and minds among the village development - and to do so in relationship with others. it will be a foundation from which villagers can support each other, and take care of the village and become a part to make their village a Model Village.

The Creating a Village Club project aims to create a supportive and open environment where community members can connect, learn, collaborate, and motivate each other. Through a combination of offline and online campaigns, the project empowers individuals, deepens existing practices, fosters collaboration, and contributes to the positive development of the village. By creating a space for meaningful interactions, the project envisions a stronger and more cohesive community that actively works towards its collective well-being and progress.

Economic Development

Economic development isn't just about making basic needs accessible, but is about people working together for improving the quality of lives and creating sustainable economic growth. Economic progress is a necessity for a country to prosper. This leads to and is caused by more employment in the Gram Panchayats, promotion of entrepreneurship, and addition of more opportunities for economic growth.

In Indian history, for a long time, a village has been a self-sufficient and contained economy. Rural reconstruction and development have, of late, caused a rapid transformation in the economic structure of rural India. These changes have affected every different area: land reform, agriculture, animal husbandry, supplies, marketing, village industries, rural leadership, village administration, and more.

Economic development has also changed the way we introduce welfare services as well. Opening schools, primary healthcare centers, improving transport and communication, and the spread of mass media services have become possible, and in fact, necessary as a result of and in order to maintain development. The Abhayudaan Foundation is active in finding different ways to boost village economies by collaborating with government and private ventures.

The Economic Development of village is dedicated to fostering sustainable economic growth and improving the quality of life in the village. Through a combination of offline interventions and online campaigns, the project aims to empower individuals, support local businesses, and create a thriving economic environment. By leveraging the village's resources, talents, and potential, the project envisions a brighter future for all community members, where economic opportunities are abundant, and the overall well-being of the village is enhanced.
Village Infrastructure

The Development of Village Infrastructure project is a comprehensive initiative aimed at improving the physical, social, and environmental infrastructure of the community. By focusing on areas such as roads, telecommunications, power, housing, water, sanitation, education, healthcare, and environmental facilities, the project aims to create a positive impact on the community's quality of life. It seeks to provide better facilities and livelihood opportunities, which can lead to improved literacy, life expectancy, reduced poverty, and infant mortality.

The project includes a range of offline and online campaigns to achieve its objectives. Offline campaigns involve activities like road infrastructure development, telecommunications infrastructure upgrade, power supply enhancement, housing development, water supply, and sanitation projects, educational infrastructure improvement, healthcare facility development, livelihood support programs, waste management initiatives, renewable energy projects, and more. Online campaigns focus on information dissemination, online consultations, virtual workshops and webinars, digital advocacy, online surveys and feedback collection, virtual community engagement, and digital training programs.

A robust monitoring and evaluation framework is implemented to assess the progress and impact of infrastructure development, environmental initiatives, and livelihood programs. Key indicators include improvements in access to sustainable infrastructure, environmental conservation, adoption of eco-friendly practices, livelihood opportunities, and community well-being. The project also has a sustainability plan that involves community engagement, capacity building, exploring funding opportunities, promoting eco-tourism, and fostering partnerships to ensure the long-term success and impact of the project.

IT Enablement

 The IT Enablement project is a forward-looking initiative that aims to revolutionize traditional approaches in various sectors through the power of technology. By embracing innovative IT solutions, the project seeks to enhance efficiency, improve service delivery, foster digital inclusion, and drive transformative change. The project has set goals and objectives that include embracing digital transformation, enhancing service delivery, fostering digital inclusion, promoting data-driven decision-making, enabling e-governance, improving connectivity, enhancing cybersecurity, and empowering innovation.

To achieve these goals, the project implements a wide range of activities both offline and online. Offline campaigns involve technology awareness workshops, digital skills training, technology infrastructure setup, capacity building programs, public-private partnerships, digital entrepreneurship support, technology adoption campaigns, and more. Online campaigns include online learning platforms, webinars and virtual conferences, e-governance portals, online collaboration tools, cybersecurity webinars, data analytics training webinars, online coding bootcamps, virtual hackathons, digital marketing campaigns, and more.

The project emphasizes the importance of monitoring and evaluation to assess progress and impact. Stakeholder feedback and regular assessments will inform adjustments and improvements to ensure the project's effectiveness.

To ensure long-term success, the project incorporates a sustainability plan that involves capacity building for IT professionals, collaboration with industry and academia, exploring public-private partnerships, and leveraging funding opportunities. The aim is to create a sustainable ecosystem that continues to embrace technology, drive innovation, and adapt to emerging technological advancements.

Join our Volunteership Program

Volunteering is often thought of as a selfless act, and one that is undertaken without any expectation of reward or recognition. However, there are actually many benefits to volunteering, both for the individual and for the organization or cause that they are supporting.

Volunteering can provide a sense of purpose and fulfilment, especially for those who are retired or no longer in paid employment. It can also be a great way to meet new people and make new friends, while at the same time helping to support a worthwhile cause.

Abhayudaan Foundation rely heavily on volunteers to help them with their work, and this can be extremely rewarding. It can also help to build skills and experience, which can be useful on a CV.

Volunteering can also be a great way to give something back to the community. Not only does it help to make a difference to the lives of others, but it can also help to improve the village/rural area.

So, there are actually many reasons why someone might choose to volunteer their time to an organization or cause. Ultimately, it is up to the individual to decide what they hope to gain from the experience.

For us, there are many reasons to implement Abhayudaan Volunteership program (AVP). First, volunteers can provide much-needed help with day-to-day tasks and operations. This can free up paid staff to focus on more strategic tasks. Second, volunteers can help to raise awareness of the NGO and its work, which can lead to increased donations and other forms of support. Finally, volunteers can serve as role models and mentors for the NGO's beneficiaries, helping them to develop the skills and confidence they need to lead successful lives.

Abhayudaan volunteership program is one of its kind wherein the volunteers get an opportunity to work for the development of villages. The program is divided into two parts – the first part is for the volunteers to work in the village and the second part is for them to work in the city. The volunteers are required to work for a minimum of 4 hours per day. They are also required to attend a weekly meeting which is conducted by the organization. (Process and rewards will be discussed individual upon selection of tasks by volunteers)

Fund the Cause

Donations are essential for any NGO for several reasons. First and foremost, donations provide the vital financial resources that NGOs need to carry out their work. Without donations, many NGOs would simply be unable to function. Secondly, donations can help NGOs to expand their work and reach more people. With more financial resources, NGOs can employ more staff, reach out to more people in need, and provide more services. Thirdly, donations can help to raise the profile of an NGO and make it more visible to potential supporters. Donations can help to fund marketing and publicity campaigns, which can raise awareness of the NGO and its work. Fourthly, donations can help to build relationships with donors and create a base of support for the NGO. Donors who feel appreciated and valued are more likely to continue supporting the NGO in the future. Finally, donations can have a positive impact on the local community in which the NGO operates. By supporting the work of an NGO, donors can help to make a difference to the lives of people in need.

Apart from making a difference in the world, here are some personal benefits you can gain by donating:

1. Giving to charity can be incredibly rewarding and empowering.
2. Giving to others can make you live a stress-free life, contributing to longevity.
3. By giving to charity, you help to support causes that are larger and more significant than yourself.
4. Many people feel a sense of responsibility toward others, and the Privilege of helping others can be a great way to reinforce our values.
5. By sharing the experience of donating to charity with your children, You help them understand that they can make positive changes in the world. Children naturally love to help others, so nurturing their innate generosity is likely to mean that they grow up with a greater appreciation of what they have and what others do not have.
6. Paying taxes is often a burden; however, donating to charity can help you save money by receiving 50% of your donation as a tax deduction under section 80G of the Income Tax Act.
7. The opportunity to meet people with similar ideologies, interests, and beliefs is essential in building a sense of belongingness.

How we are using Donations?
